BEST OF ALL DESSERTS.

Recipe for Pumpkin Pie That Will Please Everybody.

A good pumpkin-pie recipe is as follows: Steam the pumpkin until soft, dry and rub through a sieve. Add one and a half teaspoonfuls of brown sugar to a cupful and a half of pumpkin; two eggs, beaten slightly; one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of ginger and a little salt, one and a half cupfuls of milk and a half cupful of cream. Bake until golden brown in a pan lined with rich pastry.

Little pies of oyster or chicken or mushrooms are preferred by many entertaining housekeepers in place of the big pies. Pimientos give a spicy novelty. Either make or buy at the caterer's puff-paste cases and fill them with this mixture: One can of pimientos, drained and cut into small pieces, mixed with an equal proportion of fresh mushrooms, fried lightly in butter and added to a thickened sauce made as for cream sauce, but with chicken stock used instead of the usual milk. Fill the cases, and top with whipped cream and a touch of currant jelly.

The Home.

Water kept in bottles on the ice, instead of breaking the ice into the water, reduces ice bills.

Growing parsley, sage and other herbs in a kitchen window garden gives better seasoning at less money.

To bake pancakes without greasing the griddle, add one tablespoonful of butter or a half-cup of cream to the batter.

If your soup is found too salty add a few slices of raw potatoes and cook a little longer. The potato will absorb the surplus salt.

Paraffine used on the tops of preserve glasses can be saved until the next season by washing in cold water and putting in a tin box with a tight lid.

To extract juice of lemon or orange much more juice will be obtained if the fruit is first covered with cold water and allowed to come to a boil before the fruit is cut.

Jepanned trays should never be touched with hot water, for it will cause the varnish to crack and peel off. To clean these trays, rub a little olive oil on and then polish it off with a fannel.

When broiling steaks in the gas oven put water in the pan beneath the broiler. It catches all grease which, when cold, can be skimmed off. This keeps the oven clean and saves labor in cleaning the pan.

English Bath Buns.

Sift one quart of flour into bowl, add one-half teaspoon salt. Make hole in center and break in four eggs, then add three-quarters cup lukewarm milk in which dissolve one yeast cake and one-half cup butter. Mix thoroughly with spoon and set aside to rise in a warm place 1 1/2 hours. When light, turn out on floured board and sprinkle with five tablespoons sugar and three tablespoons chopped almonds, and work them into the mass by drawing the tips of fingers lightly and quickly through the dough. Do not knead. Then drop by spoonfuls half-inch apart into greased pans. Let rise ten minutes. Bake in hot oven. This makes two dozen. Process takes about two hours and 15 minutes.

Beef Curry.

Coarsely chop one large or two small onions and fry them slowly in two tablespoonfuls of butter until nicely colored; add one teaspoonful of curry powder and cook for three minutes, then one pound of raw beef from any lean part; stir until brown, add one tablespoonful of flour, mix well and brown, then stir in gradually one cupful of stock or gravy. Bring to the boiling point, add the juice of a sour orange and two tablespoonfuls of apple sauce or one small tart apple chopped fine. Simmer until the meat is very tender and serve with a dish of plain boiled rice.

Gingered Pears.

This is particularly nice served with ice cream or muskmelon. To eight pounds of pears chopped very thin allow four pounds or less of sugar, one cupful of water, the juice and thin yellow rind of four lemons (be sure they are not bitter) and one-eighth pound or more of green ginger root, scraped and cut in thin slices. Bring the sugar and water to a boil, add the fruit, ginger and lemon, then simmer three-quarters of an hour or until the consistency of marmalade.

Amber Drops.

Pare and remove seeds, cut in small cubes, and steam till evenly pierced with a straw. Make a sirup of lemons, a pound and a half of sugar to a pint of juice. Allow one lemon to a pint of the cooked sirup. Add to the sirup and cook slowly, stirring often, until it will drop from the point of a spoon. It should be like a marmalade when cool. This is something new and should be clear as amber.

Prevent Grape Juice Fermenting. To keep grape juice after bottling, lay each bottle down on its side in a drawer or box and in this way keeping the corks moist with the juice. This prevents the air from getting in, as the corks never shrink, and it will never spoil.

Window Ledges.

The men helpers of a household would not dread to look up at night if they always felt sure that the ledges and locks of the windows were kept free from dust with a damp cloth.

Trustee's Sale of Real Estate.

Whereas Lorrimer A. Fulton, a single man, and now dead more than one year, by his certain deed of trust dated 9 November, 20, 1904, and recorded in the recorder's office for Lafayette County, Missouri, in Book 175 at page 251, conveyed to the undersigned trustee the following (with other and heretofore released) described real estate situated and lying in the County of Lafayette and State of Missouri, to-wit:—The south half of the southwest quarter of section numbered six (6) except 18 acres off the west end and except two acres in the northeast corner, being a tract 288 chains wide north and south and seven chains long east and west. Also all that part of the west half of the southeast quarter of said section six (6) lying south of the middle of said county road running through the south end of the said eighty-acre tract and being about one acre of land; all of said land being in township 24 north and range 14 west of range numbered twenty seven (27) and being all about 80 acres of land in 20 acres.

Which conveyance was made in trust to secure the payment of a certain promissory note in said deed described with five interest-coupon notes; and whereas default has been made in the payment of a balance of $1200.00 of the principal of said promissory note and of the interest due thereon, as shown by the last of said interest-coupon notes, which are now due and unpaid, now therefore I, the undersigned, the said trustee, do give notice that in accordance with the provisions of said deed of trust and at request of the legal holder of said notes, I will on MONDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1906, between the hours of nine o'clock in the forenoon and five o'clock in the afternoon of that day, at the court house door, in the City of Lexington, Lafayette County, Missouri, offer for sale and sell at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, the said real estate for the purpose of paying the balance due on said notes with the costs and expenses of said sale.

Given under my hand this 4th day of December 1906.

WM. B. CHILES, Trustee.

ABOUT ADVERTISING—NO. 8

The Cellar Hole and the Sewer Hole

By Herbert Kaufman.

A coal cart stopped before an office building in Washington and the driver dismounted, removed the cover from a manhole, ran out his chute, and proceeded to empty the load. An old negro strolled over and stood watching him. Suddenly the black man glanced down and immediately burst into a fit of uncontrollable laughter, which continued for several minutes. The cart driver looked at him in amusement. "Say, Uncle," he asked, "do you always laugh when you see coal going into a cellar?" The negro sputtered around for a few moments and then holding his hands to his aching sides managed to say, "No, sah, but I jest busts when I sees it goin' down a sewer."

The advertiser who displays lack of judgment in selecting the newspapers which carry his copy often confuses the sewer and the cellar.

All the money that is put into newspapers isn't taken out again by any means. The fact that all papers possess a certain physical likeness doesn't by any means signify a similarity in character, and it's character in a newspaper that brings returns. The editor who conducts a journalistic sewer finds a different class of readers than the publisher who respects himself enough to respect his readers.

What goes into a newspaper largely determines the class of homes into which the newspaper goes. An irresponsible, scandal-mongering, muck-raking sheet is logically not supported by the buying classes of people. It may be perused by thousands of readers, but such readers are seldom purchasers of advertised goods.

It's the clean-cut, steady, normal-minded citizens who form the bone and sinew and muscle of the community. It's the sane, self-respecting, dependable newspaper that enters their homes and it's the home sale that indicates the strength of an advertising medium.

No clean-minded father of a family wishes to have his wife and children brought in contact with the most maudlin and banal phases of life. He defends them from the sensational editor and the unpleasant advertiser. He subscribes to a newspaper which he does not fear to leave about the house.

Therefore, the respectable newspaper can always be counted upon to produce more sales than one which may even own a larger circulation but whose distribution is in ten editions among unprofitable citizens.

You can no more expect to sell goods to people who haven't money than you can hope to pluck oysters from bushes.

It isn't the number of readers reached but the number of readers whose purses can be reached that constitutes the value of circulation. It's one thing to arouse their attention, but it's a far different thing to get their money. The mind may be willing, but the pocketbook is weak.

If you had the choice of a thousand acres of desert land or a hundred acres of oasis, you'd select the fertile spot, realizing that the larger tract had less value because it would be less productive.

Just so the advertiser who really understands how he is spending his money does not measure by bulk alone. He counts productivity first. He takes care that he is not putting his money into a sewer.
